The Yale Center Beijing (YCB) advances Yale University’s fundamental dedication to developing aspiring leaders worldwide who serve all sectors of society. Located in the Chaoyang District of China’s capital, the Center hosts workshops, talks, and other events developed by Yale schools and programs in collaboration with partners in China, covering a variety of critical topics, such as global affairs, economics and finance, technology and innovation, arts and humanities, and sustainable development. The Center is a meeting point among Yale, China, and the world, with elegant facilities that encourage meaningful dialog and technological capabilities to connect Beijing with New Haven and other locations around the world.

Now in its second year, YCB has developed an active programming schedule with more than 200 events and programs, engaging the university on multiple fronts and enhancing Yale’s many partnerships in China. Programming includes workshops and training programs convened by Yale entities, a public speaker series, admissions and recruitment events, and use of the facility by Yale students, alumni, and friends. The Center is an established platform for engaging thought leaders on critical topics in Beijing and New Haven.

You made me feel like an integral part of the Center and its community, arranged the activities with flair and efficiency, and were supportive throughout. I am also delighted to see that you use programs like this one as a foundation for continued interaction … That expands [the program] into so much more.

Diana Kleiner
Dunham Professor, History of Art and Classics, Roman Art and Architecture, Yale University

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE YEAR INCLUDE:

- A First Anniversary Conference with speakers such as the Honorable Kevin Rudd, 26th Prime Minister of Australia (2007-13); Mr. Fu Chengyu, Chairman, Sinopec (2010-15); noted economist Dr. Wu Jinglian; and others
- Full- and multi-day programs with a range of Yale entities, including the School of Forestry & Environmental Studies, Yale Young Global Scholars, School of Management, and others
- New speaker series in collaboration with the Council on East Asian Studies at Yale
- Seven Yale deans visited Yale Center Beijing for meetings, speaking engagements, or conferences just during the fall of 2015
ENGAGING YALE
Since the Center’s inception, engaging Yale entities has been a focus of our work. Collaborating with deans, faculty, and key administrators, YCB has hosted speakers from:

- School of Forestry & Environmental Studies
- School of Music
- School of Management
- School of Architecture
- Divinity School
- School of Public Health
- School of Law
- School of Nursing
- Department of Statistics
- Program in Biological and Biomedical Sciences
- Institute for the Preservation of Cultural Heritage
- Many other Yale entities

YCB has been a convening space for showcasing Yale’s research, teaching, and collaborative projects in China. Some of the full and multi-day programs it has hosted include:

- Yale School of Architecture-Tsinghua School of Architecture Symposium on the Challenges and Opportunities of Local, Regional, and National Architectural Identity in an Age of Global Practice
- Religion and the Environment: A full-day conference co-sponsored by the Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies (FES), the Pulitzer Center, and the China Communications University
- FES-Tsinghua workshop on urban climate
- Yale Young Global Scholars: A week-long event for exceptional high school students
- Three-day workshop on Roman architecture
- Leadership development programming
- Two-week pre-MBA program convened by the School of Management

YCB’s state-of-the-art video communications system brings together Chinese thought leaders with Yale faculty for conversations on critical topics. Yale University President Peter Salovey was the first to use the video-conference system for a discussion on emotional intelligence. Examples of other video-conference events include:

- Dean of the School of Music Robert Blocker in conversation with Maestro Yu Long
- Former President of Mexico Ernesto Zedillo in conversation with the head of the Brookings-Tsinghua Center, Qi Ye, on global governance
- Professor Dan Esty with Yale World Fellow and top Chinese environmentalist Ma Jun on the Paris Climate Change agreement

“I felt like I was on the main campus.”

Togla Koker
Senior Lecturer of Economics, Yale University
YCB has been pleased to establish partnerships with Yale entities on projects including:

- Partnering with the Council on East Asian Studies at Yale on a new speaker series titled “Asia in the World”
- Collaboration with the Yale-China Association (YCA) that includes YCA fellows working at YCB during the summer

YCB has also been a nexus for connecting Yale University with its counterparts in China and strengthening its existing partnerships in the country. For example, YCB hosted the “Growth & Institution” Workshops in Economics, in which top Yale, Tsinghua, and other scholars from around the world, as well as top government officials, discussed the most cutting-edge issues in the field.

“The Western faculty group and its partners in Chinese academia and on the policy-making side were very impressed with the Center and Yale’s level of engagement in China. I think the fact that the group of faculty includes the former chair of the Nobel Committee in economics, the president of the European Economic Association, etc., a number of the top China-based scholars, and top economic policymakers is a great example of Yale Center Beijing significantly contributing to the academic mission of Yale.”

Aleh Tsyvinski
Arthur M. Okun Professor of Economics, Yale University
ENGAGING ALUMNI AND FRIENDS IN CHINA

YCB has actively engaged with the community of Yale alumni and friends in China. Public speaking events, workshops, and events focusing on critical topics regularly attract high-level audiences in Beijing.

Yale faculty and staff have featured prominently in the Center’s programming schedule, bringing the best of Yale to China. Presentations have included:

- Yale University Librarian Susan Gibbons on the university library’s expanding mission in the digital age
- Dean of Undergraduate Admissions Jeremiah Quinlan on the college admissions landscape
- Professor of American Studies and History Mary Liu on Asian-American history
- Dr. Stephen Roach, senior fellow at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs, and Professor Emma Sky, senior fellow at the Jackson Institute and director of the Yale World Fellows program, on global affairs

The Center’s roster of outstanding speakers has been instrumental in attracting audiences from throughout China to YCB. This includes dialogs with people like the following:

- British Ambassador to China and Yale alumna Barbara Woodward on Sino-U.K relations
- U.S. Energy Secretary Ernest Moniz on U.S.-China cooperation in energy security and climate change
- Former Yale Corporation Fellow Dr. Jeffrey Koplan on public health triumphs and threats

Programming for incoming Yale students and alumni has also been a feature of the past year, with events such as:

- Recruitment events for the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs and the Yale-NUS College
- Welcome receptions for newly admitted students at Yale College and Yale School of Management
- Welcome reception for Yale College students from China

YCB’s social media account (WeChat), which has more than 15,000 followers, is a key outreach tool in China.

In addition to managing YCB’s programmatic initiatives, YCB works closely with Yale faculty and staff on handling logistics on the ground in Beijing.
A LOOK AHEAD

During the next year, Yale Center Beijing plans to further Yale University’s mission in China, deepen its relationships with its Chinese partners, and continue its programming on diverse topics. A sample of upcoming programming includes the following:

July 2016
- “China’s Next Musical Ambassadors” with Dean of the Yale School of Music Robert Blocker, Maestro Hu Yongyan, and other musicians
- “Faculty Diversity in Higher Education” with Dr. Karen Anderson, associate provost for academic resources and faculty development at Yale University

August
- AmCham Executive Roundtable with Professor Peter K. Schott, Juan Trippe Professor of International Economics
- Model Foundation: Philanthropy and Innovation for Impact

September
- Canadian Ambassador to China Guy Saint-Jacques on China-Canada relations
- Green Museum Workshop with Dr. Stefan Simon, director of Global Cultural Heritage Initiatives at Yale’s Institute for the Preservation of Cultural Heritage

October
- Yale Global Health Leadership Institute workshop
- Christie’s and YCB Program on Mapping the International Art World

November
- School of Management Behavioral Economics Immersion Program

This is in addition to YCB’s ongoing schedule of public events, alumni programming, regular speaking events with top Yale professors via video conference, and more. Up-to-date information on our programming is available on our website (Centerbeijing.yale.edu) and WeChat account (YaleCenterBJ).
